The closest Prior Art of Applicant Admitted Prior Art (AAPA0 shows a similar system to control the displaying data written in and read out of the memory RAM for displaying data to the display panel. However, the AAPA fails to discloses "a driver controller having a display RAM storing data, wherein the data is vertically written on and vertically read from the display RAM, and the read data is transmitted to the display panel". This distinct feature has been added to independent claims and renders them allowable.
